The basics...

Access to Nature has 5 Outcomes:

Target: at least 1 million people to have improved opportunities to actively experience and enjoy the natural environment

e.g. awareness raising events; interpretation materials; guided walks and talks; leaflets, trail guides; natural play programmes; employment of a project officer

The basics...

(2) More people having opportunities for learning about the natural environment and gaining new skills

Target: 75,000 people to have a new learning opportunity related to the natural environment

Target: 50,000 volunteers to have a new opportunity to actively participate in training and development programmes, gaining new skills

e.g. volunteer training; species identification workshops; educational programmes; volunteer recruitment; educational materials; skills training

The basics...

(3) More people able to enjoy the natural environment through investment in access to natural places and networks between sites

Target: Investment in access links and associated networks to 130 natural places

Target: 325,000 people experiencing better links with the natural environment

e.g. footpaths; boardwalks; cycle routes; creating/managing greenways; green corridors; access links; green transport links; community surveys and public consultation

The basics...

(4) richer, more sustainably managed natural places meeting the needs of communities

Target: investment in the quality of 100 natural places, meeting the needs communities

Target: 2500,000 people benefiting from physical improvements to their local natural environment

Target: 5,000 people regularly participating in the care of these natural places

e.g. survey work; site/landscape management; habitat creation/restoration; restoration and enhancement of landscape features; improved safety provision

The basics...

(5) An increase in communities' sense of ownership of local natural places through establishment of strong partnerships between communities, voluntary organisations, local authorities and others

Target: 100% of projects actively and positively engaging with local communities

e.g. employment of dedicated project officers; use of green space for community activities linked to well being and health, purchase of tools and equipment; volunteer involvement; capacity building and partnership development

The basics...

Target Beneficiaries - projects must primarily benefit one or more of the target beneficiaries:

3. Projects that will benefit people who are underrepresented in terms of contact with the natural environment or who are experiencing social exclusion. These groups include older people, young people, people experiencing poor health, disabled people, black and ethnic minority communities, unemployed people and economically disadvantaged people
